This gives Amazon a bargaining power and thus customers in the end can get products at a cheaper price. Amazon.com can offer products for a specific geographic areas and for particular religious occasions and this can create a niche market and Amazon.com can also open new localized web pages in local languages as its already operating a few non-English websites. Along with suppliers there are some companies which want presence on internet by entering the online retail market and for such companies Amazon.com can offer workable choices which will benefit both the companies and Amazon.
