I know as a reasonable low price shopper, that several of my medications doubled when moving here and away from Costco - and double was the low price, say from $9 to $18 and those were the lowest increases that I could find, short of putting up mileage, gasoline, and grief, to go to Lenexa, to go to that Costco,.....which became a wash in my mind (and I didn't want my meds sitting in a hot delivery van cooking in the sun - as in store this at room temperature ? How well would that work ?) Costco's store pricing was often slightly cheaper than their online prices that were quoted for a certain med., on their web page, etc.

Instead of emphasizing the social divide between our political parties, we as Americans should call on our leaders to find the common ground that will improve our health and our country. The solution to our problem is found in a combination of abstinence plus comprehensive sex education, increased access to birth control, and smart investments in healthcare. If Texas, North Carolina, and other states across the nation actually want to end abortion, then instead of targeting women they need to set their sights on creating comprehensive sex education and lowering barriers to accessing birth control. Both parties claim that they are looking out for women; well, it is time that they all live up to their promises and work together to improve the lives of women and families everywhere.
